Oro Valley Council Appoints Interim Town Attorney

ORO VALLEY, AZ (Oct. 5, 2007) — The Oro Valley Town Council announced the appointment of Tobin Sidles to the position of interim town attorney while the Town conducts a search to replace retiring attorney Melinda Garrahan. The move will go into effect Oct. 8th.

Sidles has been with the Town since 1990. He will receive a 10% pay increase while serving in the role of Town Attorney.

The Town Council also appointed Joseph Andrews interim chief civil attorney during the transition. Andrews has been with the Town for seven years, most recently serving as chief civil deputy attorney. He will receive a 10% pay increase while serving in this role.

David Andrews, town manager, said the Town hopes to fill the lead counsel position within the next 60-90 days. Nine applications have been received to date, with a preliminary review scheduled for Oct. 11.
