Mayor Winfield's State of the Town Address now available online

On October 28, Mayor Joe Winfield delivered his third State of the Town Address to a crowd of more than 650 people at the El Conquistador Tucson, a Hilton Resort. This year marked the 20th anniversary of the event, which is hosted by the Oro Valley Chamber of Commerce. Winfield's message focused on gratitude for all the achievements this past year as well as optimism for Oro Valley's future. The message touched on everything from the success of the OVSafeSteps business support program to a sneak peek at the exciting projects taking place as part of the new Parks and Recreation Master Plan. A full transcript and video of the mayor's message are available on the Town's website. Just click here or type STATE OF THE TOWN in the search bar.

OV unveils another public mural!

Oro Valley's second public mural has been finished and is ready for you to enjoy! Artist Pen Macias has created a Welcome to Oro Valley mural with a "vintage postcard feeling" at the Oro Valley Marketplace (located on a utility wall near the Walmart parking lot). This is the second mural commissioned by a partnership between the Town of Oro Valley, Southern Arizona Arts and Cultural Alliance, Oro Valley Chamber of Commerce and Visit Tucson. The first mural, which is the topic of this month's podcast (see right →) was painted by Ashley White and is located on the north side of the OV Aquatic Center at James D. Krieger Park.

Have you heard the latest episode of the Town's podcast, This is Oro Valley? Host Town Manager Mary Jacobs sits down with artist Ashley White and Kate Marquez, executive director of the Southern Arizona Arts and Cultural Alliance, to discuss Oro Valley's first public mural and the history and importance of art in our community. Be sure to subscribe to the podcast on Apple Music, Google Podcasts or Spotify. Or listen directly from the Town's website. DELAYED: Water Utility customer portal launch pushed to April

In last month's Vista newsletter, we announced that a new and improved online customer portal for Oro Valley Water Utility customers would be launched in January; however, due to unforeseen circumstances, the launch has been pushed out to April 2022. No action is needed from customers at this time. The OV Water Utility will roll out more information as we get closer to the new launch date.
